

I appreciate the attention of this message.

I respectfully urge de FCC to REJECT the NAB's petition 04-160. We, the american citizens, have been affected in the past by several private interests to limit the products and services that we want to pay for. Such was the case of the sudden interruption of local channels from satellite signals (DirectTV). And given the fact that these services do not harm us or anybody else, nor are these services free, I do not think it is fair to limit our freedom of choice.

I expect authorities, respectfully, to limit whatever deteriorates the general health of the population, as well as disloyal business practices from private interests. Because of this, it is everbody's obligation in this country to keep private interests from increasing their profitability by establishing artificial barriers that keep americans from getting what they are willing to pay for. Innovation is what will drive this country further and our obligation is to guard this innovation.
